Allen Passes Seven Men During First Three Innings

MAGUIRE MAKES CATCH

Freshmen Make Strong Rally in The Eighth Inning But Fail to Win

In a loosely played game at Everett, Thursday afternoon, the 1912 team went down in defeat before the fast Everett High School team by the score of 10 to 7. The chief weakness of the freshman team seemed to be the lack of team work, individual play being more in evidence.

With two out in the opening inning Roberts, the 1912 first sacker singled but was caught stealing second. Lansing for Everett started by working Allen, the 1912 pitcher, for a free transportation to the initial bag. Brickley, the Everett captain followed with a slashing two-bagger, but a quick return by Coulson nipped Lansing at the plate. Allen then passed two men and hit one batter. The inning closed with the score: Everett 3, 1912 0.

The freshmen went out in order in the second, while a series of passes, a hit and an error added two more runs to the Everett total. After securing a base on balls in the third inning, Maguire scored the first run for 1912. Everett added two more in the latter half of the inning.

Three hits netted the freshmen but one run in the fourth and the Everett team was retired in quick succession, placing the score: Everett 7, 1912 2.

Both sides went out in order in the fifth, as did the 1912 team in the two following innings. Everett added one more in the sixth by clever base running on the part of the Everett catcher.

The freshmen in a wonderful burst of speed started a batting rally in the eighth inning which resulted in the benching of Brown, the Everett pitcher. Before the smoke cleared away the freshmen had sent four runs across the plate. With two out and two strikes on the batter in the last half of the eighth, the Everett team scored a series of hits resulting in two more runs for them.

Rosenthal pitched the last inning for Everett and was touched up for three hits, one a three-bagger by Roberts of Tech. The final score was: Everett 10, 1912 7.

The features of the game were the playing of Roberts at first for the fresh-

THE MOVING PICTURES

Will Be Shown at Bijou Dream on Next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday Only

Tech men will be interested to know that the moving pictures taken at the Technique Rush on last Saturday will be exhibited at the Bijou Dream, the most up-to-date moving picture theatre in Boston, on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week.

These pictures, notwithstanding the dark day on which they were taken, are excellent, and it is very easy to recognize the large majority of the men in the rush.

The pictures were on view for a few days this week, and a large number of Tech men saw them. This is the first time that moving pictures have ever been taken of any Technology event, and all the students, whether they witnessed the rush or not, should see them.

Professor H. L. Seaver will give two lectures tomorrow afternoon at the Museum of Fine Arts; the first on "Gilbert Stuart," the second on "Greek Vases."

LAST OF SHOW PERFORMANCES

Big Hit Made "Boston In 1920" Scene Given In Act Two

ENTHUSIASTIC AUDIENE

Comedians and Clever Dancers Are the Hits of This Year's Show

This year's Show is over, and all agree that in many respects it was the best ever given. There were five performances, and the production improved with each presentation.

The Smith College girls were the first to see the Show, and over 100 Tech men took the trip to Northampton. A special train left the North Station at 2:05, and ten minutes before that time everybody was on deck. There was a man at the gate selling toy balloons who was rapidly divested of his stock, and when, in the evening, little Ray Allen appeared on the stage, his tall silk hat had a blue balloon floating serenely over it, which made him something like seven feet tall. The trip was wearisome, but no one complained. All soon became engrossed in reading matter, and several circles formed to enjoy the great American game. The aforesaid Mr. Allen gave an interesting lecture on magic, and presented several enigmatical puzzles, one of which baffled everyone except our coach, Mr. Francis. On arriving at the station, the men boarded an electric and went straight to the theatre. The lunch served on the stage was well appreciated, and after satisfying their hunger the men donned their costumes.

It was a large audience that had gathered to witness the performance, and they were well satisfied. The length of this performance—three hours—delayed the starting of the return train, and Malcolm and Mr. Francis spent all of the time on the home trip putting the Show down to its final effective form. The crowd reached Boston at 3:35 A. M., and with a verse of

MAURICE SCHARFF FIRST MARSHALL

Men Elected to Positions are All Popular in Activities

GRAM SECOND CHOICE

Mississippi and New England Men Elected to Marshalls Positions

As has been the case in former years, the election of the marshalls for the senior class was a practical repetition of the recent Class Day committee elections. The choice of the class for first marshal was Maurice Roos Scharff of Natchez, Miss. The second choice of the class was Carl William Gram of Wollaston, Mass., while third choice fell to Harry Emerson Whitaker of Newton, Mass.

Scharff was president of his class in freshman year, and also served as manager of the tug-of-war team. In the second year he was captain of the 1909 tug-of-war team, member of the board of The Tech, assistant manager of the musical clubs and member of the 1909 Technique Electoral Committee. Last year he was business manager of Technique and class representative on the Institute Committee. This year he has retained his position on the Institute Committee and has had an important share in the development work in varsity athletics, is a member of the Exeter Club and Round Table.

Gram won prominence by reason of his ability to run. In his freshman year he made the class relay team, and in the next season he won his T by capturing the 200-yard dash at Worcester in record time. He was elected class president at the beginning of his junior year, and in that office took an important part in the class affairs of the year.

Whitaker started out in his freshman year as captain of his relay team and as treasurer of his class. He was a member of the 1909 electoral committee and has been representative on the Athletic Association for two years.

REVIEW OF SHOW BY PROF. SEAVER

Critic Considers Show Good Although Inferior To Others

EXCELLENCE OF FINNIE

Considers View of Technological Boston in 1920 a Hit of The Production

(By Prof. H. L. Seaver)

When one writes a criticism of the show who has seen all the shows but one in the last eight years it is as if Minos and Rhadamanthus had judged the writing. For he will recall features of particular brilliance in former shows, and will forget the inferiorities that made those shows, with whatever particular brilliance, of no more than average excellence. This year, to be sure, as always, I laughed till I cried, though not at the parts most intended to be funny. No one could, therefore, call a show ineffective which drew iron tears down Pluto's cheek. Yet, my honest opinion would be that the show did not in particular parts now as a whole equal the best work of earlier performances. Yet the show was good, good enough to be interesting in more detailed retrospect.

The book of the play was confused, providing much incident which unfortunately was not clear in the beginning nor later cleared up. To be sure, the story counts for little in this sort of performance, except as a thread for songs, dances, and "stunts;" but the thread should be more easily traceable. The scene of the libretto provided on the other hand, rather more consistency in costuming than have late shows, and some real effectiveness, especially in the stage groups. The Indians and Puritans in the wood made a pleasing stage picture, harmed, it seemed to me, by the indiscriminate and ugly whirl of colored lighting. The fun provided for by the libretto was this year mostly in mere puns, not always successful; occasionally in droll specialties like the vision of Technological Boston in 1920, too rarely in truly comic allusions to Tech life and teachers.

The music for this Show seemed to me of even excellence equal to that of last year and the singing in some respects, freer in the serious songs, and a little more distinct, though not yet nearly enough so, in the comic songs.

The dancing had as we now expect all Show dancing to have, an infectious enthusiasm. The more effective are those dances that call for emphatic rythm, like the Dutch dance—something that can come down thump and plump in a tremendous circular crash. The sprier dancing is enlivening and admirable in so far as it is spry, a flashing excitement when brilliantly clothed, as were the Spanish dancers, but such dances may become, as was the single Spanish dancer, an almost painful revelation of the amount of agility that can co-exist with the most angular awkwardness.

A grave deficiency discounted any possible excellence in the individual actors and their parts: except the town crier and a few others, no voices carried chiefly because they were so hurried, more than half the time, even so far as the front of the lower balcony. Consequently much of the story and many of the jokes, and more than half of the words of the songs were wholly lost. I personally found in this Show no

The last Hare and Hound run of the season will be held today at Wellesley. Chase captain Eldred has arranged to have a special car put on the 2:04 train, on which the squad will go out. A good time is promised everyone who runs. Coach Kanaly is in Philadelphia with the relay team, but left directions that the run must not be more than five miles long. The trail will be laid around Lake Waban, and all who have run this course will be glad of a chance to cover it again before Tech closes. As this is the last cross country run that many seniors will be able to take there should be a record crowd out to make this the most successful run of Tech's most successful cross country year.

LAST OF SHOW

"We're here because we're here," the men parted.

The Tuesday performance was about half an hour shorter than that at Northampton. The Wednesday matinee for graduates was not very well attended, but the fellows did their best. On Thursday afternoon to the largest and exceedingly appreciative audience the best performance of all was given. President-elect Maclaurin and acting-president Noyes attended, as did many professors and instructors. At Malden the house was sold out.

Of the actors, Malcolm and Finnie, the leading comedians, are in a class by themselves. "Cherub" Belden was as usual a most gracious and winsome girl, and Jacobs and Campbell left nothing to be desired. Champagne and Kerwin also deserve mention for their excellent interpretation of their respective roles.

The "Beer Song" is destined to go down to posterity, but for melody and as a catchy air the "Medicine Man" is perhaps quite as good. "A Little Game of Love," as sung by Kerwin, is a corker, while Ray Allen's "Not the Kind That Mother Used to Make" is as great a hit as he is. "Every Little Shower is a Storm to You" never failed to get encored at least four times.

At Malden, Schell and Hodge, who took the places of Catching and Higgins, respectively, on exceedingly short notice, deserve great credit for the effectiveness of their work.

Many thanks are due Mr. Francis for his fine work and the inspiration which he gave the fellows. Mr. Schell is to be commended, and the management in general for its fine manner of conducting and entertainment. Mr. Flockton helped not a little, and, in short, many more have the student's thanks.

In commenting on the Tech Show this week, the Boston Herald said:

"The scene showing Boston in 1920 continued to be the hit of the production.

"The Herald's wireless station was pointed out by Sidney A. Malcolm in the title role of the play as he said: 'It was through that wireless tower that they first discovered that there would be a tercentennial in 1920 to celebrate the landing of the Pilgrims.'"

With the criticism was a clever cartoon drawn by Haydon Jones.

REVIEW OF SHOW

episode of such genuine native humor as the wheelbarrow pair of last year.

The absence of Kibbey made the present piece weaker in farcical impersonation. Allen was admirable in this vein, but we had him last year also. Finnie was the most consistently comic impersonation, and will be a real loss from next year's cast. (By the way, how good the photographs of him are, in the group of male principals, page 29, and especially the pose alone, page 23 of the program.) This latter picture is, I think, the best photograph of any Show actor for many years.) The best fun of performance like ours remains indubitably the incongruity between girl's dress and word and man's manner and voice. I wish I might appreciate, as only a girl could, the irresistible absurdity of an impersonation that gives the costume and the face (how excellent was Belden's make-up) and even the form acceptably, with some real likeness to a girl—and that gives at the same time the comical rigid affectation of gesture and the queer tripping, leering awkwardness of walk that a fellow attributes to a girl. Of course he doesn't imagine or imply that she is anything but charming and beautiful; but this astonishing personification is the nearest guess his admiring helplessness can make at what her movements really are that give her charm and grace.

FACULTY HAVE TEA

The annual tea of the Technology faculty was held in 11 Pierce yesterday afternoon and was attended by many people prominent in Institute social circles. The artistic decorations of the "Applied" room aided greatly in the success of the function.

In the receiving line were Dr. and Mrs. Maclaurin, Dr. Noyes, Mrs. William Barton Rogers and Mrs. Francis Amasa Walker. Members of the Cleofan acted as ushers and also poured.

Professor Swain has been appointed by President W. C. Brown, of the New York Central, to a committee of three expert engineers which is to investigate the Wilgus site for a station from the railroad's view point.

Edward H. Barnard, of Belmont, one of the foremost landscape painters of the country died recently at the McLean Hospital in Waverly. Mr. Barnard took a special course in architecture at the Institute.

The engagement of G. Hobart Chapman to Miss Frances Dyer Clark of Wyoming is announced.

TEAM IN PENN GAMES

Tech's relay team, composed of Capt. C. W. Gram 1909, A. L. Moses 1910, W. C. Salisbury 1911 and P. D. White 1911, will run this afternoon in the intercollegiate relay carnival at Philadelphia. These four men, with Coach Kanaly and Manager Fernstrom left for Philadelphia Thursday night.

The meet is run by the University of Pennsylvania and is a model of track management. Everything goes off right on the minute, as with more than 200 teams running and some 40 events to be taken care of, the whole affair is calculated to a nicety. For instance, Tech's race is event 27 and is scheduled for 4:23 P. M. and may be run a few minutes ahead of time. Every man must be on the track, ready for the gun at least 15 minutes before his event is to come off.

Drawings for the position of the teams was made some time ago by a child who has no interest in the meet, and the programs have been out for a week. The order from the pole is: Lafayette College 1, Technology 2, Ohio State University 3, Swarthmore 4, Wesleyan 5 and Ohio Wesleyan 6.

Tech's strongest opponents are Swarthmore and Wesleyan. Last year Wesleyan beat Tech by five yards, with no one else in sight. Tech has beaten Wesleyan indoors since then—"but then you never can tell." The Institute team is in good shape and ought to make a very good showing.
